About WVPAC 2025

The Malaysian branch of World Veterinary Poultry Association (WVPA) was established in 2013. Our vision is to become a vibrant association of poultry veterinarians and those involved in poultry-related activities for the betterment of the poultry industry in Malaysia. Our mission is to gather and encourage the exchange of knowledge and experience from all avian health professionals through congress, seminars and continuing education programs.

The poultry industry is a crucial food-producing industry in Malaysia and many countries in this region, contributing significantly to the wealth of the nations and safeguarding our food security. The WVPA Malaysia, under the auspices of the World Veterinary Poultry Association, will host the 23rd World Veterinary Poultry Association Congress (WVPAC 2025) from 6 to 10 October 2025 at Borneo Convention Centre, Kuching, Sarawak in Malaysia. The conference theme is "Sustainable Healthy Poultry for a Healthier World, where various topics on control and prevention of poultry diseases, food safety and food security will be presented and discussed by poultry experts from industry and academia all around the world.
